

NEWSLETTER GREEN

MARCH 2024 | N°4

The intermediate meeting of the project "GreEn: entrepreneurship's for the present and future of Europe and Latin America", co-financed by the Erasmus Plus programme, was held in Cordoba (Argentina) in hybrid format from 29 February to 1 March.

This meeting has served to discuss the status of the project so that, during the first day, the entity made a summary of the activities carried out so far and those that are still pending.

The summary of the project's quality monitoring was presented and a new dissemination strategy was proposed.

In addition, the progress of the tests by the partner organisations was presented and new strategies, challenges and achievements were shared in order to continue advancing and improving the implementation of the tests.

The partners who were able to attend in person visited the city of Córdoba before meeting the stakeholders: María Martínez Plinio, Director of the Centre for Entrepreneurship and Innovation of the Catholic University of Córdoba (UCC), Malena Bressan and Hernán Matías Perín, CorLab - Govtech Innovation Lab of Córdoba, Municipality of Córdoba, María Orozco, Secretary of University Social Responsibility of the UCC and Basilio Conrero and Silvia Prono, Cooperativa de Promoción y Desarrollo Regional del Río Tercero.

Priorities were also set for the organisation of the second transnational training that will take place in Montevideo (Uruguay) in May, in which participants from each entity will have to present two entrepreneurial ideas created from the tests carried out during the previous months.

This project is funded by the European Union. The views and opinions expressed are those of the author(s) alone and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union or the European Education and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA). Neither the European Union nor the EACEA can be held responsible for them.

